I was diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes in the year 2000. I am Master student of Sociology and Social Anthropology, having defended my thesis on the subject of “Stigma, Self-stigma and Resistance: Life Stories of people with type 1 diabetes in Belgrade” at the Central European University. I am an ex-professional swimmer. I am currently employed at the Institute for Balkan Studies, Serbian Academy of Sciences and Arts. I wish to pursue a career in academia, focusing on Sociology of Health and Illness. I am part of the YOURAH network as my main goal in life is to help others.
