

Jovana Jovanović

I am Jovana and I am a graduate of the Faculty of Law. I have had type 1 diabetes since 2008. Driving change in the field of diabetes is something I find very important because I want to make some important changes both, in my country and throughout the whole world. I find my participation in the Youth Leadership Lab valuable because this is a great way for young advocates to meet and share their experiences and fight for the rights of people with diabetes. Together we can change the world (of diabetes)!
